Module 6: Connections and Healing

When you feel connected to something, that connection immediately gives you a purpose for living.

—Jon Kabat-Zinn, PhD

What keeps you connected?

- Relationships
  - Family
  - Friends
  - Co-workers
- Life Stories – Past, Present, Future
  - Personal
  - Family
  - Cultural
- Places, things, rituals, and practices

Children Define Themselves Through Their Connections

- Who am I?
- What is lovable about me?
- What am I capable of?
- How can I survive and make sense out of what’s happened to me?
- Who will I be in the future?
Being taken from my parents didn't bother me... but being torn away from my brothers and sisters... they were my whole life.

It was probably the most painful thing in the world. They told me I would be able to see them a lot, but I was lucky to see them at all.

—Luis

Essential Elements 5 and 6

5. Respect and support positive, stable, and enduring relationships in the life of your child.

6. Help your child develop a strength-based understanding of his or her life story.

A Family Tale

- Joey (four), Sandy (nine), and John (14) have been in foster care for six months.
- The children were taken into care after their mother, Jane, left Joey and Sandy alone for several days while she went on an alcohol and cocaine binge.
- Joey is with Thelma, their maternal grandmother. Sandy and John are with Rana, a foster mom.

- Jane’s father was an alcoholic who was sometimes violent.
- Children often saw Jane passed out on the floor.
- Once when Jane was passed out and bleeding from a head injury, Sandy feared she was dead.
- Children witnessed violent fights between their parents.
- Their father left two years ago without saying goodbye.

- Jane has had periods of sobriety and many relapses.
- Sober for the last five weeks, Jane called the children every Thursday night and visited them every Sunday.
- On each visit, Jane told the children, “We will all be together again soon.”

- Joey misses and worries about his mother. Is nervous and clingy just before her calls. Asks when he is going to see “my Sandy” over and over again.
- Sandy remembers having fun with her mother when she wasn’t “loaded.” Has nightmares about her mother passed out on the floor. Angry at her father for leaving and wonders if he is dead.
- John was close to his father. Blames his mother for the split. Doesn’t trust women. Feels “old enough” to be on his own.

(Group Activity)

On Thursday, Jane didn’t call.

- What might each of the family members feel and think?
- How might they behave?
- How might their past trauma and Invisible Suitcases influence their reactions?

- Joey: worried, clingy, focused on how he would give Jane a present on Sunday
- Sandy: upset and angry, argued with Rana about going to the Sunday visit
- John: withdrawn, said he didn’t care about Jane
- Thelma: worried, angry, ashamed; remembered her husband’s drunken nights
- Rana: worried but judgmental

- On Sunday, Jane didn’t show up for the visit.
- Joey threw a tantrum, insisting his mother would come.
- Sandy became upset and angry, tried to protect Joey, and lashed out at Thelma and Rana.
- John acted withdrawn and disinterested, but lashed out at Rana and Sandy in the car on the way home.
What can be done?
(Group Activity)

- How can Rana and Thelma help the children cope with Jane's behavior and maintain healthy connections?
- How can they help themselves?

What about Jane?
(Group Activity)

Trauma is intergenerational
- Grew up with an alcoholic and sometimes violent father
- History of abusive relationships
- Repeatedly tried to quit drugs and alcohol
- Loves her children even as she seems to "fail" them

Lessons from Joey, Sandy, and John (Group Activity)

- Every child in a family has a unique relationship with his or her parents and siblings.
- Even children with the same trauma history will understand those events differently. They may have different trauma reminders and react differently to them.
- Caregivers must take care not to burden children with their own strong and complicated feelings toward birth parents.
Let's take a break!

It takes two to speak the truth. One to speak, and another to hear.

—Walt Whitman

Making It Safe to Talk

- Makes the "unmentionable" mentionable
- Reinforces the message that the child is not responsible for the trauma
- Provides an opportunity to correct mistaken beliefs
- Teaches children that trauma does not have to define their lives
Harry: I just feel so angry all the time... What if after everything I've been through, something's gone wrong inside me? What if I'm becoming bad?

Sirius: I want you to listen to me very carefully, Harry. You're not a bad person. You're a very good person who bad things have happened to.

From Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix (Warner Brothers, 2007)

Talking About Trauma

- Expect the unexpected.
- Be aware of your reactions.
- Don't make assumptions.
- Be ready to listen and talk openly with your child, rather than avoiding the topic.

Talking About Trauma (Continued)

- Stop what you are doing and make eye contact.
- Listen quietly.
- Provide simple, encouraging remarks in a calm tone of voice.
- Avoid "shutting down" the child.

Talking About Trauma (Continued)
(GroupName Activity)

- Offer comfort without being unrealistic.
- Praise the child’s efforts to tell what happened.
- Provide constructive feedback.
  - Focus on the behavior of the caregiver, rather than making judgments.
- Be ready to share information with the child’s therapist, and to report abuse or neglect that has not yet been reported.

Building New Connections

Build connections across the disruptions in your child’s life:

- Document positive events and experiences (photos, scrapbooks, journals, etc.).
- Help “reconstruct” past experiences.
- Encourage your child to look forward to future goals and dreams.

Helping Your Child
(GroupName Activity)

Think about the child in your My Child Worksheet. How can you help this child...

- Feel safe when talking about trauma?
- Build connections across disruptions?
- Look positively towards the future?
